Education MEd, Interdisciplinary Studies for Temporary Authorization Certification

The Master’s Degree in Education is an accredited program appropriate for K-12 teachers, specialists, department chairpersons, and those who work in informal learning or international educational settings. Candidates choose electives that will support their personal growth and development as an educational leader to impact the communities with which they work.

Diverse candidates will engage in a learner-centered environment committed to the success of historically marginalized and diverse students, research, and community engagement. Within diverse education settings, candidates will: advance pedagogical knowledge, recognize inequalities in educational opportunity, design differentiated assessments to inform practice, critically examine professional practice, and demonstrate commitment to ethical professional practice.

It is important that both candidates and advisors plan ahead to ensure courses are taken when they are offered in the schedule. Programs must be planned with an academic advisor and meet the approval of the faculty advisor, adhering to the College of Education and UMSL Graduate School policies.

The M.Ed. with an emphasis in Interdisciplinary Studies with Temporary Authorization Certificate is designed for graduate candidates who seek professional growth and advancement in the field of education and teacher certification through the Temporary Authorization Certificate program. The Interdisciplinary Studies program allows candidates to design a master’s program that meets their unique needs and professional goals. Candidates will complete a graduate program that also meets state requirements for certification in their selected content area.

Admission Requirements

Applicants must meet the general graduate admission requirements of the Graduate School, described in the UMSL catalog.
